on the Voyage. The Would-be Duellists Assailed by a Swarm of Reporters.

Keep Out of the Scandal-Rumor That the Men Have Gone to Fight,

By Telegraph to The Times. New York, March 28 .- [By the Associated Press. James Coleman Dray-ton and Hallett Alsop Borrowe, the principals in the cause celebre, which is now agitating New York's four hundred, have arrived with no evidence of the sanguinary meeting half anticipated by the interested public on this side of the water. Their trouble arose out of Borrowe's intimacy with Mrs. Drayton, and culminated in an attempt on the part of the injured husband to seek satisfaction by force of arms. The Majestic did not reach here till late this afternoon.

Shortly afterward a revenue cutter with fourteen persons on board left her dock, and, notwithstanding orders to the contrary, when the steamer was reached the whole party clambered aboard. There was no evidence of any unusual excitement aboard. Capt. Par-sell was on the bridge, and when ques-tioned by the energetic reporters re-ceived them with a look of blank amaze-

"I know nothing of any trouble between the two gentlemen," said he.
"They have been the very quietest of Borrowe, and Millbank were discovered later. Both were greatly startled at what they deemed the intrusion by the reporters. They were informed of the marked attention given their personal affairs by Americans generally during the past week and shown copies of letters which purported to have passed ing the past week and shown copies of letters which purported to have passed between Borrowe and Drayton. These were received with significant shakes of the head and accompanying smiles.

"My lips are sealed," said Millbank.
"I cannot say anything at present. I am surprised at the publicity, but, as we had not read the story here published, we ought not to speak now."

We were not aware Really, gentlemen, I am not prepared to say anything. We were not aware of these stories," and he hastened away. "Well, I—" (with another long pause) "you can best judge for yourselves. I really have nothing to say just now," said Millbank, "I think Drayton should make a statement first anyway. He began the trouble."

In the meantime Drayton was shoved into his berth and a servant put on guard at the door with instructions to let no one in. Upshur became excited and then rushed through the passage exclaiming, "I can't talk, I can't talk."
Those lingering outside the door after he had gone inside could hear frequently the exclamation, "That's singular; that's singular," and then the voic of the man servant could be hear whining in affirmation, "Awful! awful!" Upshur, when next seen by the re porters, was talking earnestly to Her Grace, the Duchess of Marlborough, who was a passenger. Said Mr. Upsher,

"Mr. Drayton will look over the matter and all that is published will be care fully read. After consultation with some of his friends he will decide what course to take."

One of the passengers, whose name could not be learned, but who said he knew both men well, told of a meeting of the men on the ship and described it. Drayton and the Duchess of Marlborough were going down the compan-ion-hatchway when Borrowe started up. They retreated a step and turning their

The Duchess of Marlborough, when asked about the episode, colored slightly and said: "Oh, yes, Mr. Drayton asked me to step aside a moment and afterward explained that a man he did not want to meet was coming up the steps at the time. I am afraid that some of your reporters will get me mixed up in this."

Mr. Drayton remained during the day locked in his stateroom. With him was a friend, and at 4 o'clock John Hoey, with his son, Frederick Hoey, who was a passenger on the Majestic, paid him a visit. A mail steamer took away the party of visitors and Mr. Dray ton, accompanied by John Hoey and Frederick Hoey, took passage on the boat of the health officer. At the pier of the White Star line fully 800 persons were gathered waiting the dock-ing of the Majestic. Among them was Percy Drayton, a cousin of Drayton, and "Freddy" Gebhardt. After the ar-rival of the mail-boat and as Mr. Drayton was not on board they took a coupé and drove uptown. Promptly at 9 o'clock representatives of the press met at the Windsor Ho-tel and waited for the appearance of Drayton, who promised to make a state-ment at 9:80. That hour arrived, but

SENSATIONAL RUMOR Drayton and Borrowe Said to Have Gone

NEW YORK, March 24 .- [By the Asso ciated Press, | At an early hour this morning a sensational report was in circulation to the effect that Drayton and Borrowe had proceeded to a quiet spot in Westchester county to discuss the situation and perhaps have an en-counter in the morning. The continued unac-countable absence of Secretary Soule, of the Jefferson Electric Road, and President Billings, of the Gas Trust, seems to be acting as a decided hamper to the prosecution. The President's Answer to Salisbury.

tion in the Senate. The President's Note Elicits Bitter Con ments from the London Press-The Old Talk About Election Bravado Again Heard.

The Correspondence Causes a Sensa

By Telegraph to The Times. Washington, March 23.—[By the Associated Press.] Senator Sherman and Gen. John M. Foster, of the State De-partment, held a conference with the President this morning on the advisability of prompt transmission to the Senate of the Bering Sea correspondence which has passed between this country and Great Britain since the 8th inst. The correspondence consists, it is understood, of two notes; the first being Lord Salisbury's cabled note of the 18th, and the reply from the President dated yesterday. It is broadly in-timated that there is an implied dispo-sition on the part of Great Britain to resent any interference by this Government with vessels flying the English flag in pelagic scaling in Bering Sca, which would undoubtedly result in the rejection of the treaty in its present

The correspondence was laid before the Senate in executive session at noon. The reading of Salisbury's note refusing to consent to a renewal of the retusing to consent to a renewal of the modus vivendi and making counter-propositions was received with ill-suppressed irritation by the Senate. The note is evasive and equivocating. The President's rejoinder broadly hints that Salisbury has not met his overtures in a straightforward manner. It insists on the renewal of the modus visendi withthe renewal of the modus vivendi with out reference to insignificant or irrelevant conditions and closes with the stirring assertion that if Great Britain declines to assist in protecting the seals during arbitration he will proceed to enforce the laws and exclude poachers from Bering Sea, if the military forces of the United States should be required to accomplish it. The note created a sensation in the Senate. After a half hour's discussion the correspondence was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

mittee on Foreign Affairs.

The gravity of the case led to the strongest effort of the Senators to prevent the public from being made acquainted with the facts until the correspondence has progressed further. There was no expression of opinion by the President in the letter transmitted in reply to Salisbury's, but this was not needed in view of the clearly-defined position assumed by him in his rejoinder to Salisbury, which appeared to meet with the unanimous approval of the Senators, although the debate itself was too short to disclose officially the standing of the Senators.

Although there has been nothing in the nature of a direct vote upon the treaty of arbitration and there is welldefined opposition to it as a surrender by the United States of her rights as acquired by the treaty with Russia, it can be stated that the treaty will soon be ratified by the Senate. But a reso-lution will accompany it, reciting that there does not appear to be any suffi-cient reason for abatement by the United States of its claims to jurisdic tion pending arbitration and authoriz-ing the President to use all the military armament of the Government to insure protection of the rights of the United States. Lord Salisbury does not, in his note, refuse to enter into a modus vivendi of THEOSOPHY EXPLAINED. Dr. Allen Griffiths' Lecture at St. Vincent's Hall Last Evening. The theosophists of the Pacific Coast have entered into a general organization and appointed a committee to attend to the propagation of this ism. Lecturers are sent out to instruct the followers of the late Mme. Blavatsky, and one of them. Dr. Allen Griffiths has arrived in Los Angeles to do a little missionary work. Last night he lectured at St. Vincent's Hall to about 100 people, some of whom were drawn by curiosity and some of whom came as disciples. Dr. Griffiths is short in stature, with a rather large head. packed with theosophical ideas, set squarely on his shoulders. He wears an all-round short beard extending from ear to ear, and his upper lip is thinly clothed with an incipient mustache. He speaks with great assurance, but occasionally trips slightly on the four-syllabled words, in which he prin-cipally deals cipally deals.

He proposes to give a course of lectures here, and hast night presented a general view of theosophy preparatory to taking up and working out details in his succeeding lectures: He first took up the three parallel lines of evolution (which is one of the fundamental principles of theosophy,) the physical, mental and spiritual, and undertook to lead his audience through the labyrinthine mazes of existence from "the causeless cause, the rootless root—the unknowable," up to our pres-ent enlightened condition. He said that from a Bible standpoint there was no rational account of this whole cosmic universe. We are pil-grims of eternity evoluting from the mineral to the vegetable, from the vegetable to the animal kingdoms. Beginning with the lowest form of life, after incalculable zons we have reached the human monad, the higher ego.

Pausing to refresh himself with a

Pausing to refresh himself with a glass of water at this point, and calling upon the janitor for more ventilation, he proceeded. There has never been but one human race on this earth—the one here now. There have been four races before us, however; the first three and one-half were mindless. About the middle of the fourth race—the Atlanteans—the hitherto giants dethe Atlanteans—the hitherto giants decreased in stature and developed into warriors. A big earthquake came along, the land was submerged, and all these Atlanteans, or reduced giants, were drowned out save a small remnans from which our own race had its origin. The bankrupt Atlanteans reincarnated, as it were, and became—us. We had existed, however, in all these preceding races—we went to sleep in one and woke up in another, ages being consumed in the operation; we have been the denizens of other planets and we will continue to pass on to the Atlanteans-the hitherto giants de walk road district, vice G. Duncan, reing consumed in the operation; we have been the denizens of other planets and we will continue to pass on to higher states successively. "We weren't made by some God," exclaimed the learned theosophist with a contemptuous gesture toward heaven, "that is a wild and baseless theory. Man, in brief, is the reincarnated microcosm of macrocosm, evolved by the procreative act from a primordial condition of the cosmoplastic and hylozoic atheisms of the cosmopleigal universe, and he is the forerunner of a new race—the sixth." Such is theosophy in brief.

The Heavy-hitting Center Fielder of the Los Angeles Team.

Opening Saturday-Route of the Procession-Mayor Hazard to Open the Ball.

"Rasty" Wright, who heads the batting list, is the heavy hitting center-fielder of the Los Angeles club. He began playing semi-professionally in 1882 with Muskegon, Wis., and the two following years was with "O'Leary,s Hustlers" of Toledo, in the Western,

Ontario, in the International League. When the International disbanded he went to Syracuse for two years, and the season of '90 found him with the Clevescason of '90 found him with the Cleve-land National League club. In '91 he managed Detroit till it disbanded and played out the season with Duluth and Omaha. Wright's batting averages of .276 in '86, .422 in '87, .349 in '88, .313 in '89, .286 in '90 and .878 in '91 show what sort of a hitter he is. President Vanderheck vesterday com-

President Vanderbeck yesterday com-pleted arrangements for Saturday's programme. The procession will be formed at the corner of Main and Sonora streets, almost opposite the Baker Block, at 12:30 sharp, and will com-prise the Douglass band, seven or eight carriages containing Managers Harris and Vanderbeck, the Los Angeles and San Francisco clubs in full uniform and San Francisco clubs in full uniform and local newspaper reporters, followed by the several amateur clubs of the city in uniform. The line of march will be down Main street to First, on Spring, up First to Broadway, thence to Fifth, and back on Spring to Temple, thence down Main to the Westminster, arriving at the grounds by 2 o'clock, which will allow each club half an hour for practice. Promptly at 8 o'clock Umpire McDonald will call "Play ball," and His Honor Mayor Henry T. Hazard will formally open the league season of will formally open the league season of 1892 and the first league game ever witnessed in Southern California by standing in the pitcher's box and throwing the ball across the home plate, whereat everybody is expected to shout, and the game will proceed in earnest. All that is needed to successfully carry out this programme is the favor of the weather bureau.

As an indication of the popular hold baseball is getting it may be stated that President Vanderbeck finds it necessary

President Vanderbeck finds it necessary to build two additional boxes.

There is a big gang of men at work laying the track, and by tomorrow the electric cars will be able to 'land passengers right at the enterance to the bail grounds. A carriage drive entrance has been constructed on the Seventh street side of the park.

Mayor Hazard will deliver an address at Friday night's reception.

Manager Harris' battery list will be as follows: Danny Sweeny, center field; Pace, right field; Reitz, third base; Pete Sweeney, first base; Levy, left field; Sharpe, second base; Coughlin, shortstop; Spies, catcher; Hoffman or Fanning, pitchers.

Box No. 6, belonging to the "Glenalvin Club," will be occupied on Saturday by Mayor Hazard, the members of the City Council and City Clerk Teed.

Box No. 5, known as "The Angels," belongs to J. W. Montgomery, R. A. Chadwick, Frank Schumacher, John Bradbury, Ed Tufts, Jack Griffith, Fred to build two additional boxes.

THE OPENING SCORE.

Season Ticket for the Su Guesser. The TIMES prize of a season ticket, worth $40, will be given to the person who guesses the correct score of Sunday's ball game, instead of to the person guessing the attendance on Satur-day, as was announced Monday. All those who have deposited their ballots will send in corrected coupons. Guesses must be written on THE TIMES coupon, attached hereto, and the clubs plainly designated by initial letters, with the guess of the score. The danger of war with Chile is past. East Whittier lands are selling fast; secure your ten ere it is too late, Or by and by you'll bemoan your fate.

UT, wiping the tears from your eyes when your chances are all gone, will do no good, and the wise man who bought in time will have little sympathy for you then. So avoid such a contingency, come to East Whittier; buy while good chances are to be had. A great many acres will be set out in trees on the tract this season, and improvements are going merrily on. We are offering the lands very cheap now on the start; they will be higher soon. Such lands at Redlands or Riverside are bringing $400 to $600 per acre, simply because they have a start, though it is pretty hot there in the summer time. But at East Whittier you can get the sea breeze every day; no need to go to the beach to keep cool, but if you want to take a dip you can drive over to Long Beach in less than two hours. There are few such locations in Southern California.

So come along quick and you can take your pick In the choicest lot of land in all the country side ssup with his gig, or Reed with his horse Nig, Will show you the tract and give you a free ride.

You can come to Sante Fe Springs at 8:30 on the Santa Fe, and get back to Los Angeles at 1:20. Drop a line to Dr. JESSUP, at Whittier, a day or two ahead and he will meet you at the train. Write him for full particulars, or to

Are still offering great inducements to settlers on the Alessandro tract OF 21,000 ACRES! Which lies only eight and one-half miles distance from Riverside on the west. Ten thousand acres are already sold; 5000 acres are being improved. Between 300 and 400 families are living there today, with churchs, schools, stores and hotels. The Alessandro Tract of 21,000 acres is equal to 35 square miles, and is 12 miles long by 3 to 4 miles in width. A most magnificent valley. With the finest soil in the world for orange or fruit culture; with the best water right in Southern California. No stone or brush on the land. People wonder at the great success and rapid growth of Alessandro until they are driven over the tract, then they are not surprised, and all exclaim: "The half has not been told."

Nature has truly been lavish with her gifts at Alessandro in regard to climate and location, and we predict a much more rapid its existence. till offering great inducements to settlers on the Alessandro tract

Heavy Damage Suit Against the Southern Pacific.

A Brakeman Wants $50,000 for the

S. A. Ayres' Voluntary Petition in In-

The trial of the case of Charles A. CONSUMPTION Lee vs. the Southern Pacific Company, an action for $50,000 damages for the loss of plaintiff's right leg, was com-menced before Judge Clark and a jury in Department Two yesterday morning, Messrs. Cole, Blair, Del Valle and Munday appearing for the plaintiff, and the defendant being represented by J. D. Bicknell, Esq.

The jurors selected to try the case were: J. F. Banning, C. P. Barnes, C. A. Bell, G. Bugbee, S. H. Doolittle, H. King, E. McDonald, G. A. Nadeau, F. P.

Smith, W. S. Squire and L. Wright.
The plaintiff, a handsome, well-built man, apparently about 28 years of age, testified to the effect that on November 13, 1888, he was employed by the Southern Pacific Company as head brakeman on freight train No. 24, northbound, which consisted of some seventeen or nineteen cars, a caboose and two locometrics one a ten wheel northoound, which consisted of some seventeen or nineteen cars, a caboose and two locomotives; one a ten-wheel helper, being put on the head end of the train at San Fernando to help in climbing the steep grades up above. At Henly, a switch about five miles north of Newhall, the freight train left the main track to allow No. 19, the southbound passenger train, to pass. While they were working on the switch Lee jumped on the pilot of the head locomotive in order to couple the engine to a flat car, but, while the engine was moving toward the car, it passed over a "saggy" place in the track, joiting the brakeman off the pilot. Before the engine could be stopped the wheels had passed over Lee's right leg above the ankle, crushing it so badly as to necessitate amputation.

He was cross-examined at considerable length by counsel for the defendant, who endeavored to show by the witness that he was violating the company's rules by riding on the pilot of the legendrive but the defendation.

the cars and locomotive without climbing upon the pilot.

He was corroborated on various points by Dr. R. C. Kirkpatrick, C. L. Varner, W. J. Bigelow and W. F. Kernan, and at the end of their testimony plaintiff rested his case.

The jury was then excused until this morning and a motion for judgment of of non-sult was argued and submitted to the Court, who signified his intention of ruling upon it this morning.

PETITION IN INSOLVENCY. Late on Tuesday afternoon a volun-tary petition in insolvency was filed at the County Clerk's office by S. A. Ayres, the County Clerk's office by S. A. Ayres, a retail grocer, doing business at No. 247 South Spring street, who attributed his failure to "adversity in business." His liabilities were stated to be $4738.65, and his assetts were set farth as follows: Stock, $4000; fixtures, $1825; outstanding accounts, and notes, $1000, and property exempt from execution, $500, making a total of $6825. His attorney in the insolvency matter is Nelson C. Burch, Esq. The petition was filed in Department Five of the Superior Court, and yesterday morning Judge Court, and yesterday morning Judge Shaw set the creditors' meeting for April 25 next, and directed the Sheriff, as receiver, to sell the perishable property at public auction meanwhile.

Ayres, one acre in lot 17, Watts' subdivision, $2000; Samuel A. Ayres to Minnie M. Ayres, lots 8 and Glendale, $100.

A mortgage was also recorded as fol-lows: Minnie M. Ayres and Samuel A. Ayres to Nelson C. Burch, one acre in lot 17. Watts' subdivision, and water, two years at 10 per cent., $1800.

The following "homestead" was filed also: Minnie M. Ayres, wife of Samuel A. Ayres, lot in lot 17, Watts subdi-

In view of the fact that Ayres' assets, according to his own statement, exceed his liabilities by $588.35, it is somewhat difficult to reconcile the fact of his having transferred all this prop-erty to his wife and attorney so soon before filing his petition in insolvency, especially when the latter, either by accident or design, was filed so late in the day as to preclude the possibility of the court making the necessary order until the following day. MARITAL INFELICITIES. The suit instituted by Mrs. Kate K. Johnson against Roscoe A. Johnson, an action for divorce on the ground of cruelty, came up for hearing before Judge Smith yesterday morning, but at the close of the plaintiff's testimony and that of Mrs. Clara Dosch, her witness, the Court expressed its opinion to the effect that the charge of cruelty had not been sustained, but that the evi-dence tended to show drunkenness and failure to provide, whereupon the mat-ter was continued in order to allow plaintiff to amend her complaint so as to conform to the proof.

At a few minutes past 5 o'clock yeserday afternoon a most singular and fatal accident took place at reservoir No. 5 on the East Side.

A Frenchman named Albert Charpentier and his wife and a young woman named Georgette Billois were, out driving, and stopped at a little wayside house kept by some Mexicans, at this end of the reservoir.

After all three of the people in the buggy had taken a drink Charpentier jumped in the buggy and started to drive off, but the little mustang he was drive off, but the little mustang he was driving became unruly and started to back toward the lake.

The driver, who was scated between the two women, did all in his power to make the horse go forward, but the brute was determined to go the wrong way, and he backed fully 150 feet to the banks of the lake. The embankment of this point, pitches down at an enterty this point, pitches down at an the banks of the lake. The embankment at this point pitches down at an incline of forty-five degrees into water fully forty feet deep, and before the occupants of the buggy realized the danger they were in the rattle-weeded mustang backed into the water, and the whole outfit, including the horse, disappeared from sight.

In a few seconds they rose to the surface, and it became evident to the half dozen Mexican women and children who had gathered on the banks that the ocupants of the buggy were in greatdanger, as not one of them could swim.

The excited women on the banks be-gan to scream murder at the top of their voices and the attention of Ar-mond Farcet and Paul Garretto was atmond Farcet and Paul Garretto was attracted. The two men, who are fairly good swimmers, hurried to the scene and plunged into the water. Charpentier and the Billois woman were near the banks and both were drawn out without much trouble, although both were unconscious and had the two men been a few minntes later the couple would have goon down for the last time. been a few minntes later the couple would have gone down for the last time. Farcet and Garretto left them on the banks and hurried back in the lake, but they were too late, for Mrs. Charpentier, had disappeared and the men could not find her. Long poles were secured and every effort possible was made to bring her body to the surface, but all to no purpose.

The men and five or six others, who had put in an appearance by this time, then turned their attention to the horse and buggy. The horse was dead when they drew him out, and the buggy was smashed up from the efforts of the animal to free himself.

Coroner Weldon and Orr & Sutch were notified and at 6:30 o'clock a party armed with drag hooks, etc., reached the lake and the work of dragging the lake was begun.

Charpentier is a janitor or porter for one of the Abbott boys on Alameda street and lives with his wife on Aliso street. The woman is only about 20 years of age and has no children. They have been married but a short time and have not been over from France long.

Charpentier took the death of his wife very hard and could not be induced to leave the banks of the lake. He stood as near the water as he could get and in a most plaintive tone of voice called the name of his wife time and again.

The first event to take place under the direction of the new club, which henceforth will entertain its friends in the gymnasium of the defunct Southern California Club in the Merced Abbott Block on North Main street, is the much-talked-of match between George La Blanche the once-famous "Marine," and the local colored pugilist, Frank F. Childs, which comes of tonight. The former's friends are par-ticularly confident of his ability to redeem himself, and odds of 2 to 1 have been offered on him, but Childs has a great many admirers, who consider that he will be more than equal to the emer-gency, and that he will repeat his sensational victory over the "Marine." It appears to be merely a question of condition, however, one way or the other, as both men are hard hitters and he who can stand the most punishment should prevail. If La Blanche has trained as hard as has been reported, and is in fairly good condition, he should not have much trouble in stop-

THE Herald reads a mild lecture to some of its Democratic contemporaries, because they do not like Hill and take occasion to say so. It suggests that, in the event of Hill's nomination, they would have a bad dish of crow to eat. Not necessarily so. In the event of Hill's nomination, the Democratic party is very liable to split in two. A large element will not only refuse to eat crow. but they will change their boarding place for some other that does not offer them crow to eat. It is quite in the line of possibility that there would be two Democratic candidates in the field, or, failing in that, the split-offs will vote with the Republican or the third party. There is a deep-seated disaffection re garding Hill and his methods, and selfrespecting Democrats will not allow a sense of party fealty to override it. Many such Democrats may be found here in Los Angeles, and, throughout the country, their name is legion.

As it is, we may reasonably infer that he has either refused to accede to this provision or has imposed conditions of in demnity to Canadian poachers, as intimated, which cannot be accepted. If this sort of juggling continues much longer the United States will be warted not only in sending enough ulsers to Bering Sea to protect the als, but also declaring all negotiations for arbitration off. Race Development on the Pacific

Some time last year a writer of philosophic bent published an article in the New England Magazine discussing California and the Californians. His conclusions were that, while the climate on this Coast is very delicious, its effect on succeeding generations, if not in the lifetime of present inhabitants, would be enervating, and that our Pacific Coast race would eventually fall behind the American type produced by the

Now comes another Eastern writer Samuel H. Scudder, who visited Calthey don't know it. If Hill has made a ifornia with the late excursion of discovery of the fact in his own case it librarians, and contributes an article to the Overland Monthly, in which he holds that the highest type of American civilization is tabe developed here, be cause the soft climate will tend to that repose which the people east of the Rockies lack. High nervous activity or intensity of life must, he assumes, interfere with the highest human development, and it is contended that to at tain the highest development there is need of engrafting on the American stock that repose of life and of manner which characterizes as a whole the European. As the physical conditions of life on the Pacific Coast apparently conduce more to leisure the writer is hopeful that some day the Californian will show his supremacy by becoming the highest product of modern civilization. He admits that as yet there is no positive sign of this improvement, in the race, but nature's environment is favorable, and we may await the good time with confidence.

These two gentlemen argue from identical premises to exactly opposite conclusions. "Who shall decide when doctors disagree?"

The fact is that nervous energy, which manifests itself in enterprise and push, is not entirely dependent upon climate. There is something in the blood of the race which goes furtimated that there is force sufficient to ther towards determining these characteristics than either climate or en vironment. For example, take the Esquimaux, and we shall find them about little game of freeze-out between the as torpid as any race that dwell be neath tropic skies and live almost without effort. What accounts for the difference between the enterprise and the directors of the Bank of California | push of the people who live in the Eastern States and those who live in Canda? Certainly if the cold climat of the North Atlantic States stirs its denizens up to great nervous activity it ought to stir up the Canadians also. But it doesn't. Directly the line is crossed there is a great difference in the characteristics of the people. This difference we are disposed to attribute more to blood and civil institu tions than to variance in latitude or

> Our experience is that the atmosphere of the Pacific Coast is a highly nervous atmosphere; that whatever character istics of unrest the American people develop in the East will be developed here in an intensified form. The race for wealth, the desperate chances taker to gain it, the tireless energy that leads to great accomplishment, will be brought to a climax on the Pacific Coast Our very atmosphere is charged with electricity, and electricity is the mainspring of nervous force. Whatevertendencie are found in climate and environment make themselves manifest in lower or ders of animals sooner than in mankind who is slower of development and therefore lesseresponsive to extraneous influences. Are California-bred horse any slower than those bred in East? The records of the turf for the past few years do not show it. On the contrary, while our uniformly mild climate tends to more rapid physical development and less waste of tissues in resisting cold, it also tends to intensifying nervous energy Not so much has to be given up in the mere struggle for existence, and consequently more remains for dynamic action. Both the horses and the men of California have something of a reputation for being fast. We are inclined to agree with Mr. Scudder that the highest type of American civilization will some day be devel oped on the Pacific Coast, and, if that type could have as one of its character istics a little more equanimity-a little more disposition to enjoy the good things of earth as pass along, and not such a fever-ish disposition to reach the goal backing of Russia and stand on our rights as specified in the warranty deed. If the Salisbury government is indulging in jingoism with the hope of gaining some party advantage while on its last legs it will probably find that the plan will not work either at home are abread.

Seeing the way Carmen was brought out last night, it is hard for one to understand that it was the same organization he had seen fall in doing justice to the opera Faust on the previous evening, but, in view of the success attained, he is inclined to pardon the faults in previous efforts, and to hope for a continuance in the same direction.

Bizet's opera has a sprightly and melodious overtime which puts the listeners in a proper frame of mind for the reception of the handsome staging, acting and singing that comes after it, and the orchestra last evening handled it with rare taste and effectiveness, and all through the score the excellent work infitiated ere the curtain went up was carefully maintained. There was also a marked improvement in the work of the chorus over that done on previous evenings, and involved as are the concerted portions of the opera, they were generally well sung. Then the costuming and staging of the piece was superior, so that, taken all in all, it was by far the most striking, and meritorious work that the Juch company have given us.

Stine and others, including the national Swedish lady quartette from Stockholm.

MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

VIOLIN RECITAL.—The pupils of Mr. Har-ley Hamilton gave an interesting recital last night at the First Congregational Church. A charming opening was given by the rendition of the numbers, "Weigenied," and the "Chor and Euryanthe," by a whole class of little violinists including Misses Edna Foy, Alice Maxson, Ruth Green, Lena Wilson, Helen Davenport, Chancie Ferris, Ouida Marion, Vella Knox, Masters Clarence Cook, Waiter Pomeroy, William Park, Paul Brown, William Merwin and Fred Taylor.

The class numbers were varied by solos, showing to the parents and friends the advance of the pupils in the study of the most truly musical of all instruments.

THE JUCH RECEPTION .- The ladies and gentlemen who had in charge the reception of Miss Juch have abandoned it for several of Miss Juch have abandoned it for several reasons. It was their first intention to hold the reception on Sunday. A delay in trains prevented this and when the company arrived it was found that, owing to the loss of one of the singers, the heavy work of the week would be almost entirely upon the shoulders of the prima donna. While, then, the formal reception at the hotel will not be held, Miss Juch will be at home to her especial friends.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—[By the Associated Press. The chances of a compromise on the silver question in the House by substituting a bill providing for an international monetary congress is now admitted to be very slight, and the advocates of such action concede a clear majority to the Free Coinage Bill when the vote is reached. The opponents of the bill at the conclusion of the debate will move to recommit the bill to the Coinage Committe. This is believed to be the strongest movement the opponents of the bill can give.

Chairman Bland opened the debate by giving notice that at 2 o'clock tomorrow he will demand the previous question on the Silver Bill. Mr. Pierce of Tennessee then spoke in favor of the measure.

At 2 o'clock it was announced that the Committee on Rules had consented to bring in a rule for a vote on Monday in case the opponents of the bill fili-buster tomorrow. In the course of his speech Mr. Pierce said:

In the discussion of the pending measure, if I did not believe that the unlimited coinage of silver would be for the best interests of the people of the whole country I should not support it so warmly. It is only by going back to the past upon this question of bimetallism that we can properly understand the great question, for the tion of bimetallism that we can properly understand the great question, for the question of today is whether we shall have bimetallism or monometallism. Going back to 1816, beginning with the action of the great nations of the world upon this question, we find great industrial England prosperous, happy until she struck down silver and discarded it as one of her coin metals. The voice of labor then, as now, was unheeded. The result was that the next three years witnessed a period of depression, distress and suffering hitherto unknown in Great Britain. This is a matter of history and cannot be controverted.

Mr. Pierce cited the speech of Mr.

Mills in the last House in support of free coinage and insisted that the gen-tleman from Texas, to make his record consistent, must support the bill. Whatever Messrs. William, Harter, Matever Messrs. William, Harter, Hoar and other anti-free coinage Dem-ocrats might do in the event of the passage of this bill the Democratic ad-vocates of free coinage stood ready to support the nominee of the Democratic convention at Chicago, whether the platform declared for free coinage or not. Mr. Pierce continued:

There are gentlemen of New England who say that if we pass a free silver bill New England will send an unbroken body of Republican representatives to this hall and they will give us a force bill. Isay to you, gentlemen from New England, that we Democrats of the South and West measure our action by the Democratic rule, and Thomas Jefferson having said that the cardinal principles of Democracy was submission to the will of the majority speaks, bow to it and support the nominee and platform that the majority presents. That is our kind of Democracy. [Applause.]

Mr. Stone of Pennsylvania denounced the pending bill as not a bill for the the pending bill as not a bill for the free coinage of gold and silver, but a bill for the unlimited issue of paper money. He had a suspicion that the bill is an heirloom in the Bland family. [Laughter.] In reading the history of his country he had discovered that one Richard Bland was a leading member of the House of Burgesses in Virginia in 1748. Like his distinguished name-sake of today he seemed laboring under the idea that the economic and financial system of his days needed tinkering. [Laughter.] In those days the currency of Virginia was tobacco in hogsbeads of 400 pounds. [Laughter.] The inconvenience of carrying around the legal tender of the day naturally aroused a desire to devise a more convenient system of currency. This desire took shape in the "Bland bill of 1748." [Laughter.] This bill was almost a counterpart of the bill of today. It provided for the establishment of Government warehouses and the apcial system of his days needed tinker of Government warehouses and the ap of Government warehouses and the appointment of Government inspectors in charge. The Bland bill of 'today provides for the use of mints already erected. The bill of 1748 provided for the deposit of any amount of tobacco by any person and the issue of tobacco notes therefor, to be accepted as legal tender, receivable for debts and dues of the Government. The bill of today provides for the deposit of 'silver bullion. vides for the deposit of silver bullion, whether owned by inhabitants of En-gland, Africa or America, and the issue therefor of notes as legal tender re-ceivable for debts and dues of the Government. [Laughter.] This bill is not a bill for the free, unlimited coinage of silver, but a bill for the unlimited purchase of silver bullion. Nine bills were before the committee that did provide for free coinage, but all were laid aside for this bill. The effect of this bill, refor this bill. The enect of this bill, repealing the act of two years ago, would be to restore the act of 1878.

"Does the gentleman take the position," inquired Mr. Bland, "that the repeal of the act of July 4, 1890, would revive the force of the previous act thereby repealed?"

"Yes."

"That's a position contrary to all principles of law I ever heard of," said Mr. Bland. "The act of 1890 repeals a portion of the act of 1878. Now this bill in repealing the act of 1890 does not restore the act of 1878 at all."

Mr. Stone persisted that Mr. Bland was wrong, that the passing of the pending bill would revive the act of 1878, providing merely for the compulsory coinage of $2,000,000 per month.

At the conclusion of Mr. Stone's remarks Mr. Bland asked consent that the debut which would evalure tomory.

marks Mr. Bland asked consent that the debate, which would expire tomorrow night, be extended until Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Mr. Simpson of Kansas objected on the ground of failure of friends of the bill to make allotment of time to representatives of the People's party. Messrs. Warner (Dem.) of New York and Bramley (Dem.) of South Carolina, then spoke in opposition to the bill, and Mr. McKeighan supported it.

At the evening session Mr. Livingstone of Georgia, in advocating the bill.

aid Hill and Cleveland meant nothing nore or less than silver and anti-silver Harter interrupted with the query, "Do you mean to say Hill is in favor of free coinage?"

Mr. Livingstone. "Well now, will you vote for Hill if he is?" "No sir," replied Mr. Harter with emphasis amid applause and laughter. Adjourned.

By Telegraph to The Times. VISALIA, March 28 .- [By the Associated Press.] Twenty women today waited on a white woman who is living with Walter James, the colored man who was tried yesterday for outraging a girl, and gave her twenty-four hours to leave town.

The jury refused last night to acquit James, though no evidence was intro-duced for the prosecution. Nine jurors were for conviction. James is still in jail and it is feared he will be hanged by the indignant citizens if he is turned loose. He will not be allowed to live

A MURDERED RANCHER.

The Mutilated Remains of a Missing Art-

PRœNIX (Ariz.,) March 28.-[By the Associated Press.] A telegram was re-ceived from the sheriff of Pima county this afternoon stating that the remains of Henry Holland had been found at the head of Josephine Cañon, near the Salero ranch in that county. Holland was a rich rancher near Salero and an old. time, reputable citizen. In the latter part of June last he suddenly disappeared, leaving no trace. At the time a Mexican named Joaquin Rascuon, who was working on the ranch, was arrested was working on the ranch, was arrested on suspicion, but was discharged owing to lack of evidence. Later the Mexican sold off a parcel of cattle and collected numerous bills belonging to Hollend and left. He was apprehended in Tucson last night and arrested, charged with Holland's murder.

ith Holland's murder.
When found the skull of the murdered man was crushed in by some blunt instrument; the body was com-pletely decomposed and one foot was gone. His hat was picked up 50 yards distant, riddled with bullets. The scene of the murder was in an obscure portion of the ranch and at the en-trance of a rocky canon, where, it is presumed, the unfortunate man had gone in search of stray cattle, when he

He expressed the hope of liberal endow-ments and hoped, too, that the time would come when the university should be governed by its graduates.

A KING'S MISSION.

The Gilbert Island Sovereign Seeking the United States' Protection.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28 .- [By the Associated Press. | King Tonbrino of Butaritari, who arrived in this city on the bark Towara last week, announces that his mission to this country is to sefor the Gilbert, Islands. He says that he feels that the islands would be much more prosperous under such a protec-torate, and if this Government will actorate, and if this Government will accept the proposition and raise the American flag over the islands he would agree to transfer to the United States the harbor of the island of Butaritari and to keep the harbor in good condition as a coaling station and for refuge at all times. He would also assist to the utmost in promoting commercial relations between the two countries. King Tonbrino will return to the islands King Tonbrino will return to the islands in a few days, but states that he has arranged that his proposition be laid before the authorities at Washington.

The Runaways Honeymooning in the Wilds of Sisklyou County. San Francisco, March 28.—[By the Associated Press.] The Post says that the relatives and friends of George Baldwin and his wife, Anita, are still at work making efforts to find out the present whereabouts of the happy pair. The latter took a train for the north and are now enjoying their honeymoon in a small town in the most picturesque part of Siskiyou county. There they will remain until the end of next week, when they will return to this city. An Ex-Convict in Trouble MERCED, March 28 .- Tim Shay, reeased from San Quentin a few weeks ago, after a ten years' sentence for urder, was arrested in Livingston yes terday and brought here on a charge of counterfeiting. He had been working as a ranch hand for Judge Gilham and as a ranch hand for Judge Gilham and considerable counterfeit money was found on his person, also some counterfeiters' tools and recipes for making spurious coin. He is in the county jail here under $200 bonds.

To Resume Business.

San Francisco, March 28.,— The affairs of A. Lusk & Čo., who suspended some time ago, have been settled and business will go on the same as heretofore with the addition on the board of several local capitalists who have become interested in the business. All outside enterprises of the company will be dropped and the company will confine itself exclusively to canned goods and commission business.

The following resolutions were pre-ented and passed by a unanimous vote:

Resolved, that we, the Southern California Sunday-school convention, representing the countes of San Diego, San Bernardino, Crange, Los Angeles, Ventura, Santa Barbara, Kern and San Luis Oblispo, an empite of itself, do hereby unanimously and most earnestly protest against the grant of anyloan or appropriation by the Congress of the United States to the World's Columbian Exposition, except on the distinctively expressed condition that said exposition shall be closed on Sundays.

Secund—That a copy of this resolution shall be abent to Hon. W. W. Bowers, United States Representative for this district, and also to Hon. Leland Stanford and Hon. Charks N. Felton, United States Senators for the State.

Resilved, that we condemn the action of the loard of Supervisors of Los Angeles count; in their treatment of the people who residebutside of the municipalities in issuing licenses to saloon-keepers where a two-thirds majority of the voters of the precinct inwhich the applicants for such licenses were to locate their saloons oppose such license.

Resolvd, that we deplore the action and example if the managers of the citrus fair and pourly show in throwing open the doors on the Sabbath day, and we recommend that our Sunday-schools use every means at their command to hasten the glad day when the shall have a Sabbath law in our State that the thousands of our young people wh are compelled to work may have a dayl frest in which they may learn more of Cirist and His love.

Resolved, that as the emissaries of Satan are attive, earnest and untiring in their effort the entice our young people from the path of virtue, we, as Sunday-school workers, ought to give the best there is of is in time, influence, money and love to keet those we have and win back those we have lost, knowing that in the youths of oir land lies its future as a nation.

their beloved teacher with unfeigne sorrow, and in every city, town and namlet throughout our country there are those who will look back to their student days with loving thoughts of student days with loving thoughts of their favorite professor.

Combining a kind heart with the finest professional ability he was always willing to relieve the poor and destitute without thought of renumeration. Who of his students will fail to remember the courtesy and careful attention given to the humblest of the patients at his clinics? He was the most enthusiastic and indefatigable of work. enthusiastic and indefatigable of work-ers, and performed one of the most skillful and successful operations of his life a short time before his fatal illness.

The writers knew Dr. Agnew as physician, teacher and friend and as such respected, honored and loved him. 'Nothing is here for tears, nothing to wail Or knock the breast; no weakness, no con-

His classical education was commenced at the Moscow Academy, a flourishing institution, located in Chester county, then under the direction of Rev. Francis Latta. Subsequently he was underinstruction at Jefferson College, Cannonsburg, Pa. His educational training was finally completed at Newark College, Delaware, where Rev. John Holmes Agnew. a relative, was professor of languages. Having concluded to adopt the practice of medicine as a profession he matriculated at the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania and graduated therefrom in 1838.

After leaving the latter institution he entered upon the practice of his profession in the rural districts. Subsequently he removed to Philadelphia, where he continued his practice, meeting with early and flattering success. Soon after settling in that city he began to deliver a course of

At the outbreak of the rebellion his class numbered 265 students, representing every State in the Union. He also established the Philadelphia School of Operative Surgery. In 1854 he was chosen one of the surgeons of the Philadelphia hospital, in which institution he founded the present Pathological Museum and for a while acted as its curator. In 1863 he was appointed demonstrator of antomy and assistant lecturer on clinical surgery in the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania. He was also chosen, about the same time, one of the surgeons of Wills' Opthalmic Hospital. Two years later he was elected to a similar position in the Pennsylvania Hospital and also in the Orthopædic Hospital. In 1870 he was chosen to fill the chair of operative surgery in the University of Pennsylvania, and in the year following he became professor of the principles and practice of surgery in the same institution, which latter position he held until last year, when he resigned amid universal regret.

A most skillful and rapid operator in every department of surgery, which was his specialty, his reputation as a surgeon is world-wide. In his capacity as an efficient surgeon, as well as a consulting physician, Dr. Agnew was called into many cases of extraordinary importance.

During his fifty-two years of active practice Dr. Agnew has made many valuable contributions to the literature of the profession. Among such may be enumerated the following: A work on "Practical Anatomy in its Relations to Medicine and Surgery," one on "Lacerations of the Female Perincum and Vesico-vaginal Fistula," a series of papers—sixty in number—on "Anatomy in its Relations to Medicine and Surgery," an exhaustive work on the "Principles and Practice of Surgery," an an Anatomy in its Relations to Medicine and Surgery, an exhaustive work on the "Principles and Practice of Surgery," an exhaustive work on the "Principles and Practice of Surgery," an exhaustive work on the "Principles and Prac ending—they're cured, by this remedy.

It's the only medicine for all such diseases, such as Salt-rheum, Tetter, Eryaipelas, Eczema and kindred ailments; the worst forms of Scrofula—even Consumption (or Lung-erofula) in its earlier stages; every blood-taint and disorder, no matter how it came—all are cured by it.

It's the only medicine for all such diseases that's so positively certain in its effects that it can be quaranteed. If it fails to benefit or cure, in any case, the money is refunded.

Nothing else can be "just as good." It may be better—for the dealer. But he isn't the one who needs help. Bevare of spurious imitations or diluttions, offered at less prices.

Sample Copies of the New Pamphlet Received.

[Branch office, No. 50 East Colorado street, where news, advertisements and orders for THE TIMES are received.]

Several sample copies of the Pasadena pamphlet gotten up by the Board of Trade have been received from the hands of the publishers and in a short time the books will be here in quantities for distribution in whatever manner the board may deem

The pamphlet contains forty pages and is an artistic piece of work from frontispiece to finish. The cover is colored a light shade of gray, the design being drawn by F. Martin Summers and reflecting much credit on the artistic genius of this gentleman. The arrangements of the photographs of the principal buildings is especially artistic. principal buildings is especially artistic. On the reverse side of the cover is a map of Pasadena and vicinity, which brings out all the principal places of interest. The next page is taken up with a summary of facts concerning Pasadena. Then follow a large colored lithograph giving an excellent bird's-eye view of the city. The names of the Omers, committees and members of the Board of Trade appear on the following page. A brief preface comes next, followed by a photograph of the First National Bank building and acknowledgements to Mr. Summers, who designed the cover; W. H. Hill, who took the photographs, which are exceptionally fine: to Theodore Coleman, who prepared the manuscript; to the managing committee, composed of M. H. Weight, W. U. Masters, T. P. Lukens and M. E. Wood; and to the photoengraving and publishing companies. The rest of the book is composed chiefly of a descriptive sketch of Pasadena, written in a lively vein and containing a vast amount of reliable information, entirely free from exaggeration or gush, the whole thing being profusely illustrated in a most satisfactory manner. A full-page photograph of the Raymond brings up the rear. The pamphlet is one of the most complete artistic and best arranged books of its kind that has ever appeared in print, and will, without doubt, do a vast amount of good in the way of advertising the advantages and resources of Pasadena.

TEAR DOWN THE BARS.

Considerable complaint has been expressed lately because "Lucky" Baldwin has closed up the roads leading to his Santa Anita ranch, thus prohibiting visitors from viewing the many attractions of the place. Signs posted here and there tell the travelers to call at Hotel Oakwood for passes to the ranch, but this house is located at so great a distance from Passadena that few care to make the trip to avail themselves of the proffered privilege. While Mr. Baldwin has doubtless been annoyed more or less by picnickers and too-curious tourists, it seems to savor a little of selfishness to thus close up one of the chief attractions of this section. It is to be hoped that he will this section. It is to be hoped that he will take the matter under consideration and once more admit the public to enjoy the exceptional beauties of his southern home. ART PRACTICALLY APPLIED.

Anything in the way of literary advancement is a benefit to a community. The same may be said about art. The study of same may be said about art. The study of art is of itself an education. To be abreast of the times it is needful to know something of art and artists. Aside from this there is a personal profit and pleasure that will accrue to us from its study. It will open a new field from which to glean richest treasures and nature will assume new phases and new delights. Sloping hillsides will be more than places for seeding and harvest. meadows will be more than pasture land, and mountain chains more than mineral store-houses. Nothing in the material world does more to make home attractive than art objects. They need not be elaborate or costly, but a little taste in selecting and arrangement will do wonders. Here then is a practical and unlimited field for all the artistic knewledge you can acquire. The advancement being made in Pasadena in this direction is gratifying. For our artistic homes and furnishings we are becoming famous.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION. meadows will be more than pasture land

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION.

University extension is agitating the minds of people all over the country, but as yet nothing has been done in Pasadena as yet nothing has been done in Pasadena in that direction. Of course everyone knows its object, namely, to give to those who have either not the time or money to devote to a collegiate course the benefits of one. In the writer's former home, with a population about the same as Pasadena, a society has been organized of over 200 members. Ecctures are given every week or so by eminent professors and different topics are discussed by the members. It is on the same principle as the Chautauqua Circle. PASADENA BREVITIES.

fass-meeting to Discuss County and City Division This Evening—Meeting of the City Council — Notes and Personals.

[THE TIMES branch office for Pomona is with C. H. Marshall, where news items, advertisements and subscriptions are re-ceived.]

While the valley received somewhat of a setback from the light crop of oranges, it is pretty well settled that we will have a ne crop of summer fruits, such as peaches apricots, prunes, etc. This latter fact is causing a smile to spread over the hereto-fore sour face of the orchardist, especially as it was feared this crop would suffer, too, in the cold snap. Many orchardists say the prospects were never better, and the orange and lemon bloom is coming out beyond the hopes of the most sanguine.

Marine Band Concerts

When the United States Marine Band gives its concerts here some unusually ine effects will be heard in the line of band work. Its playing is said to be of a more refined character than any other band ever heard in this country, and al-though the number of brass instruments in the band makes it possible to make as much or more noise than most bands if desired, the conductor, Mr. Sousa, pays more attention to virility and the finer effects, choosing rather to please those who are accustomed to the finest or-chestra music than those who want mere noise. In two respects the Marine Band is said to be peerless—or-chestral refinement and comedy music. The band will appear here just as it does at the White House, with forty-seven performers upon the stage. The great soprano, Marie Decca, will be an additional brilliant feature.

After suffering for years with stomach trouble I was at last induced to try Dr. Wong Him, of No. 639 Upper Main street, Los Angeles. He examined me and pronounced my trouble tumor in the stomach. After two months' treatment, during which time I felt greatly relieved and benefited, he pronounced me entirely cured, and from that time to the present, which is four months, I have not felt the least return of my old trouble. I am able to eat many things which formerly would distress me very much. Therefore I feel that I can do nothing else than to recommend the doctor to all who can be induced to try him. I hereby extend him most heartfelt thanks for his services to me.

Blacksmiths & Horse Owners!

It having been circulated by certain dealers that other horse-nails are made from the "same kind of material" as the Putnam Nail, with the intent of cozening the blacksmiths into the belief that they are made of the "same material," we take this opportunity of stating that we use nothing but the best Swedish C. Los Angeles Passenger Agents in Secret Session

To Discuss a Means of Fighting the Rate Cutters.

Strong Retaliatory Measures Will be Adopted at Once.

Private Car Party Over the Unio Pacific-The San Diego Railroad Boomers - Local

Before many days the passenger agents of the roads leading to the East will make the fur fly. War is in the air and once the fight warms up things will become exceedingly hot. As has been announced, the Santa Fé will put the reduced rates into effect, west bound, on June 15, which will be time for summer travel, though too late for the winter and springtime climatic refugees. A corresponding open cut east-bound will follow, as a matter of course, and the competing lines will chip in on their own account and the war will spread as it goes merrily on. That the Santa Fé's competitors are preparing to take defensive, if not offensive, action is shown by the fact that a meeting of passenger agents was held at the Southern Pacific general pas-senger office here last evening. All the representatives of roads connecting with the Southern Pacific to form transcontinental lines, were present and the situation was discussed in all its bearings. If any representatives of the Santa Fé had been present to hear the discussion they would have been deeply interested in some remarks that were made in the meeting. It was decided to submit the problem of the demoral-ization of rates to the head of the pas-senger departments of the various roads and wait for instructions, which, it is expected, will be to meet whatever rate is made by the other road and, if necessary, do a little better. The Santa Fé, having kicked over the traces of the associated roads, is at liberty to take the aggressive action and is evidently going to do it. For their own protec-tion the other roads will see to it that their rates will meet those of the rival. WHAT SAN FRANCISCO AGENTS DON'T KNOW.

An Associated Press dispatch from San Francisco says that ticket agents in that city discredit the report that eastbound passenger rates are being cut in Los Angeles, giving as their reason for the doubt that the local agents have no authority to reduce rates without the sanction of their superior officers. The San Francisco ticket agents mean well San Francisco ticket agents mean well enough, but they are not posted. Passenger rates eastbound are being cut in Los Angeles, though no one has said that the cutting is done openly over the counters of the regular ticket agents. The Times has explained how the rates are cut through the medium of the scalpers, and will have more to say on the subject. the subject.

A COLTON SCANDAL.

Queer Doings of a Holiness Preacher and One of His Flock.

Detected in a Compromising Position by Constable Bingham-The Reverend Rascal Ordered Out Colton has a first-class sensation to gossip about. In the Southern Cali-fornia page Tuesday, under the head of Sensations are looked for in the Holiness Band, as one of the members has been caught in a situation unbecoming one who professes to be holy.

Further developments yesterday show that the parties interested are Rev. Thomas Rodgers of the Holiness Church at Colton and a Mrs. Pullmer, residing in the Union Block in that city. Mrs. Pullmer is a very prepossessing young woman of about 28, living with her husband, and is the mother of two pretty children. She was the treasarer of the band and one of the most ardent of Rev. Rodgers' followers. The 'man in the case'' is an ordinary-looking personage who undoubtedly took up religion for the stuff there is in it, as it is reported he was under a salary of $200 a month.

It seems that Tuesday afternoon about o clock Constable H. H. Bingham, accompanied by a friend named William Prickett, were driving through the brush near the Santa Ana wash. About a mile west of the town they saw some-thing moving and thinking it was some wild animal or possibly an enormous jack-rabbit, for whose scalp a bounty is given by San Bernardino county, both gentlemen prepared their weapons for instant use. They alighted from their buggy and silently stole to an old flume buggy and silently stole to an old flume to better observe the danger to be contended with. Imagine their surprise when they discovered two human animals of different sexes in a very compromising position, the male having one arm around the female's neck and the other on her knee. Constable Bingham, followed by his friend, immediately after recognizing the parties returned to his buggy and when he reached Colton laid the matter before the proper authorities. As yet, howthe proper authorities. As yet, how-ever, no warrants are issued, and the lady's husband, who is said to be in San Diego, is unaware of his wife's esca-

Rev. Rodgers preached Tuesday night as usual at the Conn street meeting-room, and Mrs. Pullmer shouted just as loudly as she ever did. But the story loudly as she ever did. But the story got out, and yesterday everything was gloomy and dead at the church, where much noise formerly reigned. Some of the boys here gave the Rev. Thomas notice that his absence was more desirable than his presence, and gave him twenty-four hours to pack his trunks and "git."

the woman's former character Of the woman's former character little is known except that she has, during her six months' residence here, borne a fair reputation. There are many who assert that she has held clandestine meetings with Rodgers, but never acted foolish enough to excite anything but, passing remarks. When Rodgers came here she was among the first to welcome him, and now that he has left she was the last to bid him good-bye.

now that he has left she was the last to bid him good-bye.

Rodgers was formerly deputy sheriff of Maricopa county, Ariz. While holding that position he was considered one of the boys, associating with fast women and drinking and gambling with the best of the "roceys," as Bill Nye calls them. But he reformed and became a Holiness preacher, with the result as recounted above. Further developments are expected when the deluded husband, who, himself joined the church a week ago, returns to his inchurch a week ago, returns to his in-vaded household.
